OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

[We publish the following letter for the reason that though somewhat out of time, it throws much light on recent events at Washington City. Though late events show our correspondent to have been mistaken in some of his statements and conclusions, we think the letter will repay perusal.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10, 1866.

Congress makes what seems to be slow progress in the business of "reconstruction"—so slow that the President is impatient, I hear. But after all, it moves onward—if slowly, then surely. The Senate has passed upon two great measures—the Freedmen's bill and the Civil Rights bill—both drawn up by that active lawyer, Mr. Trumbull of Illinois. The Senate is now considering the important subject (perhaps the most important of all) of a Constitutional amendment equalizing representation.

I do not think I can do better than to take up the two speeches on the subject by Mr. Sumner and Fessenden—or to take up the gentlemen themselves—as indicating the position of the friends of the proposition and that of its enemies under the Republican organization.

Mr. Sumner spoke two days (thirty columns in the Globe) against the amendment. Mr. Fessenden supported it in an argument of two or three hours, addressed to the Senators present, and not committed to memory, as a great document to be mailed to all parts of the country. But Mr. Fessenden's argument will stand the test of a critical examination, while Mr. Sumner's will not. The arguments are like the two men. Mr. Sumner is an orator, but not a political legislator. Mr. Fessenden is more a man of common sense. He wants the South back in Congress just as soon as it can safely be done, but he insists on practical guarantees. As I understand him, all that he wants is that this one amendment shall be adopted, and be made a part of the Constitution of the United States. Then he will be ready to admit the rebellious States to representation, and not till then. Mr. Sumner, on the other hand, wants universal suffrage first, and to gain his point attempts to establish it by law.

The present aspect of affairs is such that I have little doubt that if the Senate agrees to the House proposition (the one now before the Senate) that the President will be willing to use his influence in securing the adoption of the amendment. He will be willing to have it understood that he desires the amendment adopted. Another point: If this amendment is sent to the State Legislatures, it may as well be understood at the outset that this Congress takes the ground that it will not admit the Southern claimants to seats till the amendment is a part of the Constitution, and that will be the platform upon which the Republican party will hereafter stand. The object is plain. Congress is determined to strip the rebellious section of the country of a part of its political power, until that section is ready to give the black men the elective franchise, and it is thought that whenever that moment arrives those States will be as thoroughly loyal as, a very short time ago, they were rebellious. Knowing the object Congress has in view, I do not see how the loyal States can find fault with its position, or how the President can do so, and I do not believe they will.

There has been a good deal of local excitement over a recent appointment in this city on the part of the President. One day last week he appointed a man by the name of Peter Bacon, to a police commissionership, in this city, in place of Sayles J. Bowen, whose time had expired. Bacon was a McClellan Democrat—Bowen is a very radical Republican. Of course the opposition were hugely delighted, and they at once set up a fierce cry of exultation. Men went about from hotel to hotel offering to bet large sums that every Republican office-holder in the District of Columbia would soon lose his place and a Democrat would be appointed in his place. The Democrats were elated, and some of the Republicans were dejected. This feeling (on the part of the Republicans) was momentary. Upon second thought it is perceived that there is really no reason for believing that the President had any purpose to make war upon Radicalism or upon radical Republicans. It turns out that Mr. Bowen had three offices in this city. He was Postmaster—a place worth $4,000 a year, and was a member of the Police Board and of the Levy Court. The two last offices are not lucrative, but they are Government appointments to which he was not fairly entitled. So the President, having a great deal against Mr. Bowen, agreed, as his commission had expired, to put another man in his place. As it was a local matter he thought it best to put one man on the board belonging to the opposition; but he took care to select an active business man, and one who was never a Copperhead, but who was in favor of the war. At the same time, when he made this appointment, he made another to a similar vacancy on the Police Board of a man who is a radical Republican! Mr. Bowen, it must be remarked, is still a member of the Levy Court, and has the Postoffice. The opposition have jumped to the conclusion (because the President saw fit to give his place on the Police Board to another person) with hot haste that the President has begun to slaughter his political friends. This is entirely untrue, and there are facts outside of this District which show it.

In the first place, one day last week the President appointed a well-known radical to an office in St. Louis, though he was bitterly opposed by Gen. Blair and the conservatives of Missouri. This single fact shows that the President does not entertain the idea of using his vast patronage for or against any particular plan of restoration. He recognizes the fact that the Republican party elevated him to power and place, and he therefore will still acknowledge all its just claims upon him. In a great office like that of Collector of the Port of New York, it would not be surprising if he deferred making a nomination till he sees whether there is going to be trouble or not. It is somewhat like making a Cabinet appointment. He means to select a personal friend, but in doing so if possible he will please the Republican delegation for the State of New York in Congress. But in the present condition of affairs he does not know what is coming, and postpones the unpleasant work of making the appointment. Senator Morgan and Representative Raymond (both of whom came from the city of New York) I hear have refused to sign anybody's papers, and they are the only prominent Republicans in New York who are uncommitted. They do not mean to embarrass the President, or prefer to be in such a position that they can profess pleasure at his selection of whatever character it may be. The opposition members are getting themselves into a very inconvenient position in some respects. They are opposing all the measures introduced into Congress by the Republicans. Now the President will sign some of the bills which the Senate and the House are passing with such tremendous majorities. Take the Freedmen's bill for instance. Three-fourths of the Senate and the House vote for it. In the Senate such men as Doolittle and Dixon—recorded as exceedingly conservative—vote for it. In the House such men as Raymond and Darling of New York—the most conservative of Republicans, vote for it. The President will sign such a bill. There is not a particle of doubt of it. Where then will such men as Mr. Nesmith, who voted against the bill, find themselves? Of course in opposition to the President and his administration. It cannot be otherwise. The opposition are every day claiming that they are the peculiar friends of the President. If then it turns out that they constantly vote against bills which the President signs, it will show that they are not the friends of the President. They do not act with him. He is a friend of the freedmen, while they are not. Here is a point that is frequently overlooked. No doubt the Copperheads and the opposition generally like the President better than they do Charles Sumner or Thaddeus Stevens—simply because the President is not so radical as these gentlemen. But are they willing to carry out the President's policy—to sustain him to the end? Not a bit of it. They are insincere, and Andy Johnson knows it. They are trying to divide the Republicans, and have no idea of ever taking up Mr. Johnson. But the Republicans, it is to be hoped, are too shrewd and sensible to allow any such plan to ruin them.

It is announced here that there was an exciting session of the cabinet one day during the present week. I will tell the story as it was told to me by a prominent member of Congress:

Some time since, the House, by a very large majority, expressed its opinion in the shape of a resolution that the President shall not withdraw the Federal troops from the States which went into rebellion, until Congress shall agree that the time had arrived in which it could be done in safety. The real intent and meaning of the resolution, was this: That as Congress has, at least, something to do with this great question of reconstruction or restoration, therefore, it would be improper for the President, who has command of the army, to withdraw it before Congress is ready for it. Mr. Williams, of Pennsylvania, introduced the resolution, and Mr. Williams used to be Mr. Stanton's law partner; hence, some one suggested that the Secretary of War himself, proposed the resolution and got Mr. Williams to introduce it! In a cabinet meeting (so the story goes), the President charged Mr. Stanton with the authorship of this resolution, and there was a row. But I think the story has been greatly exaggerated, and that all there is of it, is this: The resolution was discussed, and all the members of the cabinet, except Messrs. Stanton, Speed and Harlan, condemned it. From this fact arose the other story, and still another on top of that, to wit: that Messrs. Stanton, Speed and Harlan, are soon to leave the cabinet. The new candidate for Mr. Stanton's place, is Gen. Steadman, of Ohio, but we have had positive rumors of a change in the cabinet once a week since last May, and I will not credit one of them.

There is a great deal of excitement as I close this letter—in Congressional circles, over the President's speech to the colored delegation and that from Montana. He told the negroes (doubtless it has been telegraphed to you, so I will not go into details) that he thought Congress had no right to force negro suffrage upon the people of this District, or upon the people of the States. Here is where he hits Congress a blow, and a pretty severe one, and it is difficult to see how after saying this he can do otherwise than veto the suffrage bill before the Senate.

To the Montana people who waited on him he hinted at building up a new party at the "disintegration of old parties." I feel that his remarks are creating more trouble than those given to the colored people. However, there is a determination on the part of leading Republicans to hold on to the President, though they cannot agree with him on some important points. He is for immediate admission of the States which went into the rebellion and Congress is not. By proper management it can be settled without a rupture.

STEAMER DAY.

THE REBEL VICE-PRESIDENT.—A. H. Stephens, Vice-President of the rebellious Southern Confederacy, has been elected United States Senator from Georgia, and has accepted. That other unhanged rebel Herschel V. Johnson, is his colleague. Under the President's "reconstruction policy" the rebels are in a very fair way to capture Washington. With Jeff Davis and Breckinridge back in the Senate along with their fellow traitors already sent to Congress the "era of good feeling" certainly cannot be far distant. The following correspondence in the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph of Jan. 31st shows how Stephens came to accept the Senatorship:

> MILLEDGEVILLE, Jan. 30, 18[illegible].
>
> Hon. A. H. Stephens—Dear Sir: We have read with deep regret your letter to the Legislature withholding the use of your name in connection with the Senatorial canvass, but while we grant to you the right of refusing a candidacy for a seat in the United States Senate, yet at the same time we claim to have also the right to bestow upon you this trust, involving, as it does, important considerations. We feel, sir, that a vast majority of the people of the State are looking to you as the man for the crisis. As the representatives of that constituency desirous to carry out this manifest determination of the public will, we now ask, will you serve, if elected?
>
> Signed: H. R. Casey, William Gibson, [illegible] J. Jesse A. Glenn, J. C. Cabell, Ben. B. Moore, F. B. Bedford, [illegible] Owens, J. A. W. Johnson, [illegible] ton.

> MILLEDGEVILLE, Jan. 30, 1866.
> Messrs. H. R. Casey, William Gibson and others: The right claimed by you in your note to me of this date I do not wish to be understood as at all calling in question. In reply to your interrogatory I can only say that I cannot imagine any probable case in which I would refuse to [illegible], to the best of my ability, the [illegible] in any position which might be assigned to me by them or their representatives, whether [illegible] my [illegible]. Yours, truly, ALEX. H. STEPHENS.

"A WAR OF RACES.—The New York Commercial of February 9th says:

The President said in reply to Douglass, Downing and others: "The query comes up, whether these two races, situated as they were, [illegible] without preparation, without time for [illegible], and excitement to be appeased, and without time for the slightest improvement—whether the one should be turned loose upon the other and be thrown together at the ballot box with this enmity existing between them."

It seems to us that the most radical opponent of the President could not furnish a stronger argument than is here presented against his plan of reconstruction. If, as he says, this bitter hostility prevails between the two races, is it not manifestly unjust to return the whites to their [illegible] status at once and thus give them an opportunity to "turn loose" upon the blacks? The [illegible] fairly applies both ways. Once admit the rebel[illegible] States to their former footing and the question will then be settled. They can and will then treat the freedmen as they please. The true and safe policy is to proceed slowly and deliberately in the work of reconstruction, to give "time for passion and excitement to be appeased," and for the spirit of loyalty to develope itself before [illegible] the [illegible] so lately [illegible] all the rights and privileges pertaining to State autonomy.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

THURSDAY MORNING MARCH 22 1866

Conservative Kindness

Many of our conservative military officers and politicians are in a very bad way. They are in an agony of fear lest something may be done to exasperate the people of the South. Emollients are to be applied to the lacerated feelings of those who chafe under the defeat of their late effort to destroy our Government, burn our cities and take our lives. The anniversaries of our great victories over treason must not be celebrated lest we awaken in the minds of our 'gallant brothers' a sense of their discomfiture and humiliation. A national monument must not be erected on the field of Gettysburg lest it may prove a forcible reminder to Confederate gentlemen of the decline of Confederate glory. Raymond, of New York, the conservative Congressman, the protege of the President and the editor of the only Union paper of the East that now supports Johnson, applies a cataplasm to the tender sensibilities of the rebels, doing it in this wise: "The courage and devotion on either side which made the war so terrible and so long,—no longer owe a divided duty, but have become the common property of the American name, the priceless possession of the American Republic through all time to come. The dead of the contending hosts sleep beneath the soil of a common country. Their hostilities are hushed and they are the Nation's dead forever." So then, those who died in the attempt to take the nation's life are the "nation's dead." Since "the courage and devotion" of the rebels "have become the priceless possession of the American name" it has become the duty of our people to cherish the memories of such heroes as Stonewall Jackson and Albert Sidney Johnston, and to raise up monuments to perpetuate their fame. This fellow Raymond who talks such stuff is the attorney of the Administration in the House of Representatives, and these words of his perfectly illustrate the views of the President and of the Seward Weed clique as to the criminality of the rebellion. If the deeds of traitors and patriots are alike to be awarded the "common property of American name," the people who fought the war through may begin to inquire who were right and who wrong during the four years struggle. If those who were killed in defending the Union cause are entitled to equal honors with Sedgwick, Berry, Baker and McPherson, then patriotism is a cheat, and the sacrifices which loyalty has made, the strongest evidence of national and individual folly.

Gen. Delafield, Chief Engineer of the United States Army, and presiding genius at West Point, gives us a further illustration of this happy idea of applying lenitives to the inflamed Southern mind. This officer, in the superabundance of his conservative kindness wants the guns which were captured by our armies during the rebellion kept out of sight at West Point, lest the young men of the South now training at the Military Academy, may be irritated by having these trophies paraded before them. How a [illegible] upon the tender sensibilities of those who are being educated at the expense of the Government to remind them that treason is a crime, and that the discomfiture of traitors is a matter for national rejoicing!

For months there has been a steady persistent effort to debauch the patriotic mind of the country by trying to make it appear that both sides were equally in fault for the war. The President himself has [illegible] as much. The rebels are to be mollified by telling them that after all they were not to blame for what they did, and that their rebellion was but the act of men goaded to desperation by others who are as culpable as themselves. While the war was in progress, the country held this thing in a different light. Loyal men were then fond of speaking of the justice and righteousness of the national cause. Times are greatly changed when it has become necessary to keep rebels in good humor by telling loyal men they were as criminal as the class who were to be put down in public judgment and in the morals of the world.

State Items.

The name of E. W. Gillette was published by mistake as one of the delegates from Clatsop to the State Convention. This was an error. The delegates are J. W. Gearhart and Colonel James Taylor.

On the morning of the 20th, at Salem, Nelson Hayhurst got into a quarrel with, and stabbed, a man named Wm. Sanborn. They had had a difficulty the day before, but it was supposed they had settled the matter. On the morning mentioned Hayhurst met Sanborn and began the quarrel anew, drew his pocket knife and inflicted a wound in Sanborn's left side about four inches in length. The wound is not thought fatal. Hayhurst was arrested, taken before Judge Peebles and held in the sum of $500 to answer in the Circuit Court. In default of bail he was committed to jail. He was once before Judge Boise on a criminal charge and narrowly escaped conviction.

Mr. Hamilton has in operation, in Umatilla county, a [illegible] broom factory.

An application for a writ of habeas corpus was made on the 17 to Judge Wilson on behalf of Jasper Smith, Wm. Bedford, George Greer, Wm J. Jones and J. W. Evans, witnesses in the case of the State vs. Dr. [illegible]. The writ was refused, but the Judge reduced the bail from $3,000 to $1,000 each.

The Umatilla Advertiser which has been during the winter in a state of "suspended animation" has renewed its former relations with the rest of the world, and again Umatilla is represented. In the issue of the 10th, the Advertiser says of business prospects: "Not since the foundation of this city have our business men and private citizens shown so much energy and activity in their efforts to make this point the most available commercial mart on the Columbia river, as is every where visible this spring."

The Mountaineer of yesterday publishes a letter from Camp Curry which states that while Major Fairy was on a scout to Steen's Mountain, a few days ago, with a party of fifty-five men of his command, a party of Indians came to within twelve miles of camp, and attacked and drove in the guard that was placed over the hay. The expressman, Mr. Reed, was attacked and chased for about five miles, and narrowly escaped with his hair, when on his way to Camp Wright. Lieut Hobart immediately sent out a small detachment but they were unable to overtake the rascals. It has been a mild winter in that country; snow about Harney Lake was not more than a few inches deep, and lay on the ground but a short time. About this camp the snow was deeper; but the weather through the month of February has been really delightful.

Frank Williams and Daniels, or 'Hoosier Dan,' in jail at Umatilla on the charge of robbing the Orleans Hotel, cut through the floor and escaped last Monday.

Two hundred and seventy passengers arrived at the Dalles by the Oneonta Tuesday night.

The Astoria Gazette, speaking of the Salmon fisheries near the mouth of the Columbia river, says, "There is considerable preparation being made for fishing this season. From 2,000 to 4,000 bbls will probably be taken in this vicinity the ensuing spring and summer. At the usual value of salmon in this market that will be from $20,000 to $40,000 worth, and three fourths of the whole amount, at least, will be clear gain or the net result of the labor expended in the business. The fisheries are extensive and the fish abundant enough to yield an annual product of $250,000 annum, just as well as $25,000.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 20.

Military Preparations in Canada—Reported Discovery of a Powder Plot.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The Herald's special Toronto dispatch from Ottawa says that a battery left there for the frontier on Saturday, and other detachments of troops for the front are reported at four different points. The organization of new companies was going forward with great activity. The alarm seems to be unabated. Everybody now believes that the Fenians mean to make a desperate attempt to take Canada as a base. Very little dependence is placed on the American Government's professions of neutrality. The authorities feel that they can expect no sympathy from the United States and must help themselves if they would maintain peace.

The published statement shows that 10,000 regulars and 1,000 volunteers are under arms, and 1,500 more men are drilled and armed but not under pay.

The Herald's Toronto special dispatch says: A plot is reported to have been discovered to blow up the drill shed and volunteers while drilling. A large city sewer runs under the drill shed with its entrance one hundred yards off. The reports says that barrels of powder were to be placed in the sewer and when the volunteers met for drill in the shed the whole were to be blown up. The sewer is now guarded day and night.

Affairs in Mexico

NEW YORK, March 20.—Advices per steamer Marietta from Vera Cruz, show that the proclaimed Imperial pacification of the country is as far as ever from realization and that the Republicans still maintain the contest with the invaders, and nearly all their stations with stubbornness and ability. Not the slightest indications of the withdrawal of the French is yet apparent. Additional fights are expected. The victory of General Mendez over the Republicans in Michoacan is claimed to have been far more important than was at first reported, and he afterwards had a brilliant reception at Morelia in honor thereof. General Mendez says himself he fought the bands of several chiefs combined, that he had a hard battle and that his losses were severe.

Confirmation is furnished regarding the critical position of the Imperialists at Chiapas. The Republicans are threatening the town, bringing the force within some thirty miles of it. In the Pacific States the Imperialists were still confined to a few posts, the Republicans holding all the country. The latter had boldly attacked the garrison at Mazatlan on three occasions five weeks.

Lieutenant Maury, Maximilian's minister of colonization, had left for England.

News from West India Islands.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Further advices from Havana, per steamer Manhattan state that the numerous recent fires throughout the island are attributed, by one of the Havana journals to negro incendiaries. The discovery of a plot on the part of the slave traders to destroy one of the Havana newspaper offices, is reported.

The further progress of the Royal Commission in their work of investigating the Jamaica revolution is reported in the Herald's Kingston correspondence. Abundant evidence, it is said, has already been produced to show that the affair was not merely a sudden and unpremeditated outbreak, but a deliberately organized rebellion with the ultimate design of murdering or driving from the Island all of the whites. Members of the committee are reported to have left for England on the 20th inst.

The entire British West India squadron, are ordered to Halifax.

A strong feeling in favor of the annexation of the Island of Jamaica to the United States, is manifesting itself among the people of that Island.

In Hayti, sixty persons, charged with being concerned in the revolutionary movements in that Republic, had been arrested, and it was supposed that twenty of them would be executed.

South American News.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro correspondent gives further advices regarding the Rio Plata war. Immense preparations were making for the battle which was imminent at the date of last advices. The allied army of Brazilians and Uruguayans, numbering about 50,000 and supported by a considerable and efficient naval fleet, are on the bank of the Paraguay river, in the vicinity of Paso de la Patria, controlled on the north side by the Paraguayans, estimated at only 22,000 men. Works of great strength, however, are held by the latter, which neutralizes the number and advantages possessed by the allies. The latter, it is reported, design to cross the river. A desperate struggle was anticipated. They had also in contemplation a flank movement and an attack on the Paraguayan's rear. Parties of Paraguayans had crossed in boats over the river. Skirmishing had occurred. The allies, however, had repulsed the Paraguayans with small loss.

An Envoy Caught by Guerrillas.

NEW YORK, March 20.—M. Saillard, special envoy from Napoleon, has left on his return to France. One of the Belgian envoys was caught by guerrillas en route to Vera Cruz. A concentrated effort will be made by the Imperial troops to clear the Rio Grande of guerrillas, and re-establish communication with the interior.

Before the vote was announced, Garfield changed from the affirmative to the negative in order to move a reconsideration, which, having been carried yesterday, the bill is now recommitted to the committee of ways and means. This committee will report a new bill at the earliest practicable moment. The main objection to the bill being the power to fund greenbacks, the committee will probably omit that clause.

Boutwell, of Massachusetts, in a speech yesterday said the Secretary without any further legislation had power to retire one hundred and eighty millions of currency before the first of December, which he claimed would reduce the premium on gold to five per cent.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The bill for annual inspection of Indian affairs, which passed the Senate yesterday, gives the Indians legal protection by conferring upon Indian agents the powers of a magistrate, and makes the Indians competent witnesses before them and in the United States courts. Heretofore the agent has had power to appoint traders, and could thus force the Indians to trade with whom he pleased.

By this bill any one of good character can trade by giving bonds.

Foreign News.

PORTLAND, March 19.—The steamer Peruvian from Liverpool via Londonderry, March 9th, arrived this evening.

The House of Commons passed the bill for the abolition of church rates to a second reading, by 285 against 232. The announcement of the vote was received with loud cheering. It is thought the vote indicates an early solution of the question, although the present bill will doubtless be rejected by the House of Lords, as usual. The London Post asserts that public feeling is dead about reform. The Times continues to protest against dealing with parliamentary reform.

Sir John Gray's motion for the Irish Church has been fixed for Tuesday. The resolution he proposes is that the Church in Ireland is a grievous wrong to the people of that country and its continued maintenance prevents them from having any confidence in the justice or wisdom of the Imperial Parliament.

The number of prisoners arrested under the suspension of the habeas corpus act, is 176, of whom 64 are Irish Americans. Four have been discharged.

The London Post says a German crisis is imminent. The Prussian Government dispatched to Vienna a summons in respect to Sleim which was peremptory. Denmark is ready to face war and its consequences. Austria will at once take up the gauntlet or yield to the pretensions of Prussia in a somewhat ignominious manner.

LONDON, March 9.—The Atlantic Telegraph meeting unanimously approved the arrangements of the directors for laying the cable this year.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Yesterday's proceedings in Congress were brief and unimportant. The House passed the bill reported last week from the Judiciary Committee to amend the habeas corpus act of March 3d, 1863, so that officers of the army shall be protected against vexatious prosecution. Yeas 112; nays 31. The President has approved the act in relation to the court of claims. It repeals the fourteenth section of the act establishing that tribunal, which section provides that no money shall be paid out of the treasury for any claim passed upon by the court until after an appropriation is made therefor.

Dispatches announce the sinking of the steamer Gen Grant at the mouth of Platte river by ice. Total loss. She was the first Montana boat of the season.

Tragedy on the Plains—A Desperado Killed.

The St. Louis Republican has the particulars of a terrible tragedy in the Overland coach about east between Alkali and Cottonwood stations during the night of Monday, March 11th. It appears that a ruffian named Hanchild, a fugitive desperado from Montana, started last one of his fellow passengers, W. W. Barlow, from Denver, Deputy U. S. Marshal, was preparing to arrest him attempted to murder the whole party while sleeping. One passenger was killed and two wounded before the situation was fully understood, when Barlow shot Hanchild and ended the tragedy.

"I'M YOUR MAN."—It appears that the cause of the fight [illegible] Gassey Charley and Buckskin Bill on Tues[illegible] in a manner too good to be lost. Charley, [illegible] worked himself into a high degree of excitement [illegible] at the top of his voice: "I [illegible] any [illegible] in this city!" when Bill [illegible] "I'm your man!" and pitched in. The [illegible] recognition and resentment of the personality, [illegible] of admiration for Bill's peculiar style.

THE COURT.—As our city [illegible] the criminal record at the [illegible] Court [illegible] more voluminous and [illegible] in the latter daily, is much larger than [illegible] was engaged for Court purposes [illegible] quite too small for the purpose for which it is used. The crowded attendance of the past [illegible] weeks has somewhat [illegible] the benches outside the bar.

TRAGEDY.—The dispatch this morning gives an account of a tragedy occurring in a stage coach on the Overland line, in which one of our citizens Mr. Barlow did a good work, by ridding society of a bad man. Mr. Bar[illegible] family are still in the city. He was en route for New York on business.

DEATH OF GOV. BURNS.—Edmond Burns left for San Francisco last evening having received a dispatch an[illegible] the death of his brother, Thomas Burns, long [illegible] in this city as Gov. Burns of the Identical, who died [illegible] last.

THE TUG RANSOM.—We understand Capt. Ourno, of the [illegible] tug Ransom, is about to leave for San Fran[illegible]. [illegible] tug will remain on the bar very probably [illegible] in command of Capt. A. B. Richardson at pres[illegible] of the bark Almatia.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—In addition to the furniture ad[illegible] for sale by Kilbourn & Co., it will be seen that [illegible] real estate is to be offered. It will well repay [illegible] citizens to take a look through the list of property to be sold at [illegible] time.

MILCH COWS.—The miners of Warren's diggings can [illegible] be bread and butter and milk, the coming season, as yesterday a band of fine milch cows passed [illegible] the city en route for that camp, from the vicinity [illegible] City.

[illegible] THE VALLEY.—Three or four freight wagons appeared in the city yesterday from the interior. The [illegible] arrived, two hours behind time, loaded to the [illegible] with freight, much of which was forwarded [illegible] by the steamers in port.

Idaho News.

The following items are from the Statesman of the 8th:

LATEST FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

The following short note from Lieut. Pepoon to Capt. Walker, received yesterday is the latest item concerning the situation in Owyhee:

CAMP LYON, I. T., March 2, 1866.

SIR:—I have the honor to report that information reached here at [illegible] o'clock A. M. yesterday that Indians to the number of thirty or forty had made their appearance on Jordan creek, twenty-five miles from this camp. An attack was made on the house of Dr. Inskip, his hay burned and all of his stock driven off. Capt. White with twenty-eight men started immediately for the scene of depredation and intends to follow the marauders to their hiding place. The attack was made on the 28th ult.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,
SILAS PEPOON,
1st Lieut. commanding camp.

ARRIVAL OF CAPT. WALKER AT BOISE.

Capt. Walker's men arrived yesterday from camp Lyon. The horses and mules look as though they had seen hard times. As soon as the stock is recruited a little it is Captain Walker's intention to make another visit somewhere in the direction he went before.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE PROVISION MARKET.

The steady fall in the price of flour during the last two weeks, indicates that there is a more plentiful supply of that article in the market than has been generally supposed. This is partly accounted for in the fact that by far the greater portion of freight that has been brought up from the west during the winter has been flour. Other articles have been neglected while more than usual attention was paid to this as with coal oil, candles, tobacco, butter, etc. We mention the fact for the benefit of freighters from below, as indicating that mixed cargoes will be more likely to bring remunerative prices than flour which is usually the first thing brought to this market in the spring.

We clip the following from the World of the 3d:

ANOTHER DEFALCATION.—Another defalcation is reported. W. S. Gray, an appointee to the office of Treasurer, is reported behind about $1,000—to County and Territory. He started out, was missed, and afterwards arrested by the Sheriff on Camas Prairie, and brought back. A committee has been appointed to examine his books. The amount will be paid by his bondsmen immediately.

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED.—Judge Kelly dissolved the temporary injunction heretofore granted against the Collector of Foreign Miners' Licenses in the case of Dong Shoy vs. Crutcher. Plaintiff charged that the act requiring Chinamen to pay a monthly license was unconstitutional and that his action was taken on behalf of his countrymen generally. The decision went off on the point that a multiplicity of suits against a revenue of four was not sufficient to sustain a perpetual injunction. The legality of the act was not decided.

MINING PROSPECTS.—We learn from Mr. Merritt Kelly of South Boise that times were never so flourishing, and prospects as flattering as at the present time. By a letter received by him dated the 20th ult., we learn that the Wide West, in ten days run cleaned up ten thousand dollars. Ada Elmore in ten days run cleaned up twenty thousand dollars. From the Idaho the amount is not specified, but states that it is paying better than at any previous time, as is also the case with the Confederate Star.

Wilson Waddingham has made a sale in New York, through his brokers, of 200 feet in the Esmeralda, and 600 feet in the Ophir for $125,000, the deeds having arrived at Rocky Bar for record on the 17th inst.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A hail storm on Wednesday afternoon, followed by a shower of thickly-falling snow for half an hour, interrupted the monotonous routine of warm and pleasant days which have followed each other for the past two weeks.

J. B. Atkins, an old resident of Idaho City, goes below to-day with the intention of settling in Oregon. He will be missed from Idaho. His brother, Mr. Charles Atkins, will continue the business at the same place.

Hugh McFarland, formerly Agent in Salt Lake Express office at Idaho City, has been appointed County Commissioner of Alturas by the Governor, to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Mr. Mattingly.

MEETING AT THE COURT HOUSE LAST EVENING.—We give place to the following which was handed in last evening:

PORTLAND, March 21, 1866.

At a meeting of Union voters held at the Court House at 7 o'clock, P. M., to-day, the following proceedings were had:

S. M. Gilmore was called to the Chair.

On motion the Chairman was authorized to appoint a Secretary, and by his request J. A. Waymire acted as such.

Mr. Coffin offered the following resolutions:

Whereas, It has been rumored (and the rumor has obtained credence, creating much dissatisfaction among Union men of this city and county) that there was much that was unfair and corrupt in the primary election held yesterday, and in order to allay agitation and to harmonize all elements of the Union party, be it

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to investigate such rumored corruption and report to an adjourned meeting the facts in the case.

Resolved, That if upon such investigation it should appear that fraud was used, that we hold the action of said primary convention as not binding upon Union voters and that no Union man is bound to support the nominations made through the votes of the delegation elected yesterday.

Resolved, That further action be suspended until the adjourned meeting.

On motion a committee of six was appointed to investigate the charges of unfairness and corruption in the meeting of yesterday. The following persons were appointed said committee: S. Coffin, R. Mendenhall, R. Hendrie, S. Moreland, J. Thompson, L. H. Wakefield.

After a lengthy discussion, in which it was claimed that there were a good many Democrats and others opposed to the meeting present and participating in the proceedings, the resolutions were voted down.

On motion they were reconsidered. After further debate, on motion to adopt, Mr. Coffin called for the ayes and nays.

Mr. Stitzel moved that all who had taken part in the meeting yesterday in his support be requested to withdraw.

Mr. Coffin objected to the motion on the ground that it would be unkind, as he desired the gentlemen who had come into the meeting to place themselves on record. The motion was withdrawn.

The chairman ruled the policy of taking the ayes and noes impracticable, and requested those in favor of the resolutions to take the east side and those opposed to take the west side of the house. He appointed Jacob Stitzel and Stephen Coffin, tellers, and after an attempt to count the voters, Mr. Stitzel pronounced the resolutions lost, stating that he thought the majority were opposed.

On motion, adjourned.

S. M. GILMORE, Ch'n.
J. A. WAYMIRE, Sec'y.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY ITEMS.—The Walla Walla Statesman of the 16th inst., says: "The stages for Boise go out loaded down with passengers. The great majority are bound for Blackfoot, and take that route as being the least obstructed at this season of the year. The stages beyond Boise have applications greatly beyond their capacity and we are told that seats are engaged two weeks ahead."

Speaking of the improvement in mills and milling in the Walla Walla Valley, the Statesman says: "The flour now turned out by our mills is considered fully equal to the best brands of Oregon flour. The 'Standard Mill' built within the last year, is fully equal to the famed Milwaukie Mill, and now turns out an article of flour that will compare favorably with that bearing the brand of the mill just named. The other mills in the valley have likewise been provided with improved machinery and in future Walla Walla flour will take rank with the best brands sent to market."

There are nearly one hundred and fifty cases on the docket for April in the District Court for Walla Walla county. There are fifteen or twenty criminal cases, including four charges of murder.

The State Journal publishes a letter from Hon. J. H. D. Henderson, our member in Congress announcing that he will accept a re-nomination if tendered him. The Journal editorially expresses the opinion that the best interests of the State would be advanced by keeping him at Washington two years more. Of all the numerous candidates for Congress, Mr. Henderson is the only one thus far mentioned by the public press.

Rev. N. Clark, in consequence of health has left his charge in Corvallis and gone to establish a residence at Yaquina.

A general poisoning of dogs is said to have taken place recently at Eugene City. This may be considered as a "dog-gone" proceeding.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

Yesterday and To Day

Yesterday the sun was bright,
Beaming glory on the world;
Yesterday my heart was light,
In its depths a hope impearled
Now the lowering clouds fall down,
Dimming Nature's purple crown,
And upon my soul a dread
Falleth like a weight of lead.

Yesterday rich diadems
Glittering, from the bare trees hung,
And upon the sparkling stems
Gay the merry robin sung
Now the gusty rainsleets fall,
Flinging shadows over all;
And I gaze on you dull stream,
Thinking o'er a vanished dream

Yesterday an echoing tide,
Floating from the long ago,
Through the bitter waves did glide
Thrilling all my being so!
Now it sinks beneath the wave,
And my hope has found its grave;
And I sit alone alone!
Listening to the wind's low moan.

Yester-eve the moon arose
With a hope-beam on her breast,
And my spirit found repose,
And in dreams my life was blest.
But the morning brought me life,
Bound all round with care and strife;
So the shadows come and go,
Gleams of bliss and shades of woe.

Sodium Amalgam.

BY PROFESSOR B. SILLIMAN

It is well known to metallurgists that the amalgamation of gold is often attended with peculiar difficulties, and that in the best conducted operations on the large scale there is always a considerable, often a large loss, of the precious metal Samples of waste or "tailings" collected by myself of various amalgamation works in Grass Valley, California, a place noted above most others for the great success which has attended amalgamation of gold, proved on assay to contain in the quartz waste over thirty dollars to the ton, and in the sulphides over fifty dollars to the ton showing a loss nearly equal to the average amount saved in that district. One of the most cautious and experienced metallurgists of California, [Mr. Ashburner, we presume. Eds. Alta,] at one time connected with the Geological Commission of that State, informed me that, by his own determinations the saving in a large number of cases was barely 30 per cent. of the gross contents of the ore, as shown by careful assays, both of the ore and the waste.

The causes of this large loss are various, among which may be mentioned imperfect processes, insufficient comminution of the ore, and the difficulty of bringing the gold into contact with the mercury. In an ore containing one ounce of gold to the ton of quartz or waste, the ratio is as one to thirty-two thousand, or [illegible] one-fourth of one grain to one pound of stuff.

It is a matter, well known to all who are conversant with gold amalgamation, that the mercury often appears perfectly indifferent to the gold even when brought in contact with it, failing to amalgamate with it. This indifference may be sometimes traced to a minute portion of grease which [illegible] checks amalgamation, but it is quite as often due to some other and less obvious cause, baffling often the skill of the best amalgamators and resulting often in a ruinous loss of the precious metal.

Numerous inventions have been devised to save this loss, or to avoid the causes which involve it, but until lately with very indifferent success. One of the most promising, viz the use of mercurial vapor, has proved itself on trial in the large way a failure, and the problem has remained, in a [illegible] unsolved.

Early in 1864 Professor Henry Wurtz communicated to me in conversation his conviction, as the result of preliminary experiments, that the use of a minute portion of the metal sodium would [illegible] power of amalgamating with gold readily under any of the adverse conditions which had [illegible] so serious a drawback to the practice of this art. Leaving soon afterwards for California, I have had no opportunity, until within a few months past, of acquainting myself with Mr. Wurtz's plans. Meantime he has secured his invention by letters patent, bearing date D[illegible] 27th, 1864.

To Professor Wurtz we are indebted also for the discovery of a method of manipulation, by the use of which [illegible] with mercury is entirely safe and easy. Chemists are familiar with the [illegible] which follows the contact of sodium with mercury under ordinary [illegible] as to limit the mass of sodium which may be used with safety to a very minute quantity. Prof. Wurtz has discovered, however, that [illegible] a minute trace of sodium in solution [illegible] with [illegible]. [illegible] of manufacture, founded on this [illegible] will be made the subject of a future [illegible].

I have the honor to place [illegible] two of the alloys thus formed [illegible] about two per cent. of sodium, [illegible] tiful prysmatic crystal and needles [illegible] tered, and melts below 130° Fahr.

The [illegible] per cent., containing rather more, of sodium, and is a hard brittle solid, remarkably infusible, and requiring a [illegible] to melt it, and which may, as you [illegible] cast into ingots, and packed either under [illegible], or in air-tight iron cans filled with dry lime.

[illegible] may be added to free mercury at a temperature below its point of vaporation. But for practical amalgamation it is [illegible] convenient to employ one of the more fusible alloys of sodium. This amalgam may be most conveniently [illegible] ported by employing the common iron [illegible] bottle, which, being filled with the alloy and tightly closed, will need no other protection from the air, and by setting the flask in boiling water a short time the alloy becomes liquid, and may then be used to charge the ordinary [illegible]

OF THE USE OF SODIUM AMALGAM.

A preliminary experiment or two will serve to illustrate the [illegible] properties imparted to mercury by sodium.

1. Shake up in a test tube a small quantity of mercury (say half an ounce) with a moderately strong solution of sulphate of iron. The mercury is [illegible] to the condition of a thick mud, or [illegible] completely granulated (floured) as to resist all efforts to restore it to its proper condition, and retaining this condition almost indefinitely. Drop now a minute particle of sodium amalgam into it, when instantly the whole is restored to its fluid state, and subsequent efforts to reproduce the granular condition are futile if the least trace of [illegible] is present.

2. Bring a particle of placer gold or gold from quartz into a dish with a little clean mercury in its ordinary condition. It will be seen to push the gold before it as it rolls about, and refuse to amalgamate with the gold, even when beneath its surface. In fact, there appears to be a sort of active repulsion between the two metals.

3. Bring the same particle of gold in contact with mercury having a minute portion of the sodium amalgam [illegible] when immediately the gold is completely enfilmed by the mercury and [illegible] under its surface.

EXPERIMENTS UPON GOLD ORES.

Having at my disposal a considerable quantity of California quartz from a mine in Calaveras county, I proposed to Mr. Wurtz to subject these ores to his method of amalgamation, under conditions subject to control, both as expressing the actual value of the material experimented on, as well as giving the value of the results and the loss in the process.

[illegible] crushing and grinding apparatus of Mr. M B Dodge, in New York city, which, doing its work dry, gives unusual facilities for exactness. The details obtained in these experiments as to the degree of comminution reached by this apparatus have been very carefully worked out, but are reserved for a future [illegible], having no bearing on the subject now before us, although believed to be of value to the art of ore-dressing.

Suffice it to say, we were able by this means to obtain a [illegible] of the entire amount of the ore treated—a thing of the greatest practical difficulty, as every assayer well knows.

GENERAL RESULTS

The general results show that with unaided mercury the gold saved is less than 9 per cent of the whole quantity of gold known to be present. In the experiment less than 49 per cent was saved, while by the aid of amalgam of sodium the saving is increased to 80 per cent or 83 3 per cent., or an increase of more than 20 per cent leading to the reasonable expectation that in the large way at least 80 per cent of the gold present in a given case may be saved, and in many cases, where the gold is coarse and free, that even better results than this may be attained. The first experiment detailed in which a different amalgamating apparatus was used gave results surprisingly close. I do not think the barrel as good a form of apparatus for this description of amalgamation as some one of the numerous forms of pan now in use. It was employed in these experiments simply because it was a convenient means of treating small quantities of ore in making comparative experiments.

Experiments in California, under my direction, have been set on foot upon a scale of magnitude adequate to test the value of this discovery in metallurgy of gold in a satisfactory manner, the results of which may be looked for at no distant day.

The action of the sodium in this case appears to be in a manner electrical, by placing the mercury in a highly electro-positive condition toward the electro negative gold, seeming to give some reason for the term magnetic amalgam, adopted by Mr Wurtz as the trade mark of the alloy The quantity of sodium is too small to allow the supposition that it acts by its chemical affinities

It is well known to chemists that the metallic sulphides are decomposed by amalgam of sodium, but no one supposes that an inventor could be found so quixotic in his chemical notions as to seriously propose the use of sodium amalgam as a means of effecting the reduction of the sulphide of silver &c since not less than one equivalent of sodium would be required to set at liberty one equivalent of silver

The use of sodium amalgam for silver amalgamation must depend, if it is found really useful in the large way in the silver reduction process (which still remains to be proven) upon a like power of electrical action to that seen in its action upon gold, and also to the well known power of preventing the granulation (flouring) of mercury or of saving the mercury when thus changed Indeed there is good reason for believing that a most important part is played by the sodium amalgam in this last particular The amalgam of gold or silver is very liable, as every mill man knows, to his loss, to granulate and disappear from the plates of the battery or from the riffles after it has once been formed If this granulation takes place it is almost impossible, by the existing modes of amalgamation to recover the minute particles which float off with the currents of water and are lost The action of the sodium in recovering mercury which has passed into this condition is perhaps its most remarkable property

The Union Vedette of the 1st inst, contains the following news items

MILITARY MATTERS

The General Court Martial heretofore sitting at Camp Douglas, for the trial of military officers, has adjourned sine die. The camp near Provo City has been abandoned and the troops ordered to Camp Douglas for duty. There is a prospect of the muster-out of the Michigan Cavalry very soon Lieutenant Whitney, Nevada Cavalry has resigned. Capt Grimes, A Q M, has arrived, and is now engaged in receiving property from Capt. Stover, A Q M The latter gentleman proposes to go East as soon as possible, by way of San Francisco. General Stagg and several other Michigan officers, from Fort Bridger, are in town A paymaster will arrive this week, and remain on duty at this place until next July.

MONETARY.

A few slight changes appear in our monetary table of this morning. Montana clean dust rules at $22 25 per ounce in greenbacks, and coin drafts on San Francisco go at 3½ premium No Boise dust is offered in this market now a-days, it being expressed west, direct to San Francisco, or via San Francisco to New York. The receipt of Montana dust is very light these days, and doubtless will remain so until May or June. The money market here is tolerably easy, and treasury notes are comparatively plenty to what they were last season Nothing is doing at the banks, in Quartermaster vouchers, none offered and few wanted Exchange on New York and St Louis is dull, not much is doing in that line at present.

THE TWENTY-SECOND

The "Stars and Stripes" waved in their proud grandeur from the flag staff at the Overland Mail Company's office, and at other "Gentile" points throughout the city, yesterday, in honor of the anniversary of the birth day of "The Father of his Country."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The Fenian Brotherhood of this place are to have a grand celebration, with music, &c., on this day, which will wind up with a glorious ball in the evening They have sent to San Francisco for a fine new flag of "emerald and gold."

AN UNEXPECTED SNOW-STORM.

Yesterday morning opened with another fall of snow, and quite a heavy one—unexpected by the "oldest inhabitant." Excepting that there wasn't anything exciting around town all day—nobody killed in the evening, nor anybody to be married before morning—that we heard of.

GROWTH OF ILLINOIS DURING THE WAR.—The census of 1865 shows a remarkable increase in population, wealth and industry, during the past five years, in spite of the adverse influences of a war almost unparalleled in history. Our population, from 1,711,951 in 1860, has [illegible] up to 2,123,000—an addition of 411 655.

Our manufactures, from an annual value of $57,580,887, have increased to $82,156,809. We are inclined to believe, however, that the actual increase of manufactures is far greater than would be represented by these figures. The census of 1860 being taken by the United States, and that of 1865 by the State, it is probable that a larger class of articles are enumerated among manufactures by the compilers of the United States than by those of the State census. The product of wool growth in Illinois in 1850 was 2,150,112 pounds; in 1860 it fell off to 1,989,567 pounds, while in 1865 it has risen to 6,196,120 pounds. Two [illegible] have contributed to encourage this enormous increase in wool growing, viz: The loss of the cotton crop and the high freights on agricultural produce, which have tended to make it more profitable to [illegible] of all kinds than to raise and ship produce. The value of the agricultural products is given by the census of 1865 at $87,073,486. As the United States [illegible] of 1860 [illegible] the quantities and not the values of agricultural products, no basis for comparison on this point may be derived from these sources.

The value of the annual product of live stock of the State was, for 1860, $24,209,258; for 1850, $72,501,225, and for 1865, $120,724,720.

In all except manufactures the progress of the State has been most rapid. In manufactures doubtless our progress has been greater than that indicated by the figures, owing to the causes mentioned.—Chicago Democrat.

A BIT OF ROMANCE —Many of our readers have seen the boy who came here with Colonel King, of the Thirteenth Missouri Cavalry, a few weeks ago The boy escaped from the Sioux Indians on the Plains, and came to the camp of Col King, with whom he has been since [illegible] One Sylvester, of Quincy, Illinois, seeing an account of the boy's recovery from the Indians, immediately set to work to ascertain by correspondence something further on the subject. It appears that his brother removed to Oregon in 1861, and that one of the little boys was stolen by the Indians on Humboldt river As the result of his inquiries, Sylvester became satisfied that the fugitive boy is his brother's child, and came to this city last week and took him to his own home at Quincy. The boy has lost all recollection of his childhood, and the only evidence of identity is the resemblance which he bears to other members of the family, portraits of whom are in Sylvester's possession He is a sharp, shrewd, good-looking boy, about twelve years of age, and his observations are not a little amusing. A rather good thing is told of him at the party at the armory on Friday night to which he had accompanied Colonel King. He looked attentively, for a time, at the ladies who wore waterfalls, and after becoming satisfied with the survey, he remarked "one squaw have two heads"—not a very bad description Of course he did not mean to insinuate that both heads contained the same quantity of brains. His actions and habits are entirely Indian, and his language amusingly so, although he has made rapid progress in learning to speak English He designates men and women as bucks and squaws, and says he has had "heap fun" in scaring black papooses with a mask Sylvester is confident that he is the child of his brother, and is overjoyed at finding him —Jefferson City Times, Feb. 6th

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency, &c Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs soon fully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation, thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies so that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Do that before careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this [illegible] but by [illegible] of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge
